Investment

> Today, We are counting on productive investment as a lever for boosting our economy and making sure our country engages in the promising sectors. We expect the new Investment Charter to significantly enhance Morocco's attractiveness as far as both domestic and foreign investment is concerned

Excerpt from the Speech of His Majesty the King, may God Assist Him, at the Parliament on the occasion of the opening of the 1st session of the 2nd legislative year of the 11th legislature, on October 14, 2022.

National Investment Strategy

For over a decade, investment in Morocco has been steadily growing. However, this investment is predominantly driven by the public sector, representing two-thirds of the total investment. The state's goal is to achieve a 65% share of private investment by 2035, in accordance with the recommendations of the New Development Model.

Private investment, averaging 90 billion Dirhams per year (one-third of total investment), is currently supported by approximately 40% from Foreign Direct Investment (FDI), concentrated notably in the manufacturing sector, and about 60% by Moroccan investment, mainly in Real Estate, Commerce, Extractive Industries, and Construction.

Thus, in accordance with the Royal High Directives, the Ministry of Investment, Convergence, and Evaluation of Public Policies has set as its primary objectives to generate 550 billion dirhams of private investment and cre 0,000 jobs between 2022 and 2026.

To achieve these goals, strategic pillars have been identified by 2026, namely:

- To increase private investment in productive sectors (manufacturing industries, renewable energy, extractive industries, agriculture, fishing & aquaculture, tourism, outsourcing, digital, transport & logistics, waste management, etc.).
- To channel some public investment into private investment through the promotion of public-private partnerships (PPPs).
- Supporting the upgrading of private companies' growth in private investments correlated with GDP growth in sectors such as real estate, commerce, financial services, and social services.

In terms of regional distribution of private investment, the ambition is to minimize territorial disparities. This effort will allow all the regions of the Kingdom to capture a more significant share of private investment during the period 2022-2026.

As part of defining the sectoral and regional targets of the national investment strategy, a convergent approach is being finalized, incorporating all public and private stakeholders, both at the sectoral and territorial levels.

The 4 Investment Support Mechanisms

The new Investment Charter establishes a comprehensive support system consisting of unprecedented support provisions, covering all categories of projects and stakeholders, through:

- One main support mechanism: The main support mechanism aims to support investment projects that meet defined criteria, reduce disparities between the provinces in terms of attracting investments, and promote investment in priority or promising sectors.
- Three Specific support mechanisms: The first one is dedicated to strategic investment projects, the second is for the development of Moroccan businesses abroad, and the third is specifically for very small, small, and medium-sized enterprises.

National Investment Commission (CNI)

In order to support the implementation of the new Investment Charter, a new National Investment Commission has been established by Framework Law No. 03.22 forming the Investment Charter. Chaired by the Head of Government, its powers have been strengthened. It approves investment agreements between the State and investors and designates strategic status to investment projects. Concurrently, the new investment charter formalizes the decentralization of the development and approval of investment agreements at the territorial level for projects with investment amounts below 250 million dirhams.

The Investment Observatory

In light of the ambitions set by the New Development Model, Morocco needs to enhance data flows to monitor the National Investment Strategy.

The Investment Observatory will produce reliable, comprehensive and actionable data to evaluate the implementation of the National Investment Strategy. It will also have a monitoring system to:

- Support the implementation of the investment strategy.
- Measure the evolution of investment and its distribution.
- Improve knowledge of the investment ecosystem.

The Investment Observatory will be responsible for producing economic intelligence. Its study is currently being finalized.
